

OUTDOOR ROOMS

DESIGNS FOR PORCHES,
TERRACES, DECKS, GAZEBOS

Julie D. Taylor
Foreword by Barbara Barry

Living room, dining room, kitchen, and sitting area are all accommodated on the expansive terrace of this beachfront property. Concrete pavers separate the house from the sand and echo the dominant material used in constructing the terrace. Glass panels protect the owners from the elements while maintaining the transparency that is so important in this home. A curved upper deck is cantilevered over the sitting area, providing shade for the area below as well as additional outdoor space for the private family areas on the second floor. The unique surfacing of the deck comprises metal grating with glass overlay.

Architecture: David Lawrence Gray, FAIA
Photographs: Tim Street-Porter

